Does growing competition in the documentary film industry result in a growing number of quality documentaries? Is this the right documentary market model? Is there an alternative to the sometimes extremely stressful process? Where pitching art is more important than the art of pitching? In a non-competitive atmosphere, without the stress of 'winning', in a 'slow pitch' mood? This year's edition of ZagrebDox Pro event is trying to find answers to these particular questions. Over the course of five days, four mentors – Nebojša Slijepčević, Ana Fernandez Saiz, Tue Steen Muller and Ieva Ubele – will fully focus on eight projects and their authors. The awards of this year's Pro edition – Al Jazeera Balkans financial support, London-based Impronta Films advisory award and RAFF – Rab Film Festival residential award – additionally stress commitment to the selected projects even after the closure of this programme.

THE FOG OF TRUTH – AI AND DOX

At its core, documentary filmmaking seeks truth. With AI's rise, this quest grows complex. Can generative AI deepen artistic truth or erode audience trust? Recognizing this challenge, the American Archival Producers Alliance issued guidelines to uphold documentary journalism values. ZagrebDox PRO explores AI's creative potential and ethical challenges. Originator of the idea is Nenad Puhovski, concept creator Morana Komljenović, and Artefacto is carried out under the initiative Travelling Docs in collaboration with the Creative Europe MEDIA Desks in Belgium (Wallonia Brussels), Croatia, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Germany (Berlin, Hamburg, Munich, NRW), Greece, Hungary, Italy (Torino), Latvia, Norway, Portugal, Slovenia and Sweden, while PUBLIKUM in collaboration with the Creative Europe MEDIA Desk Croatia.

TWO PICTURES PER SECOND

Mladen Ćapin
Croatia

Project Phase: Development
Producer: HRT
Contact: mladen.capin@hrt.hr

This film/essay would be a documentary experimental reflection of myself through the time that has passed. The basic tools I would use to visualize this would be the family archive of Super 8 films (about four hours of various material), photographs, and newly filmed material from the present time. Through the frames (people, places, events...) passing through the scanner, new sequences of the film would emerge, freezing time and impressions that I only vaguely remember today but which, consciously or unconsciously, shaped who I am now.

Mladen Ćapin was born in Karlovac, Croatia. He graduated from college with majors in history and philosophy. Since 2000, he has been working as a screenwriter and director in the documentary department of HRT. He is the author of about fifty documentary programs and films produced by HTV. Most of his work is related to social and psychological stories and depictions of ordinary people, their occupations, passions and destinies. He has also directed music and sports documentaries, screen adaptations of literary works, and documentary essays.

Their souls marked with the scars of the war let us listen to the silence, the Sonic Silence.

Ludovico Chincarini graduated in film studies in Venice and has participated in numerous fiction and documentary film productions in Italy, Germany, and Albania.

Alessandro Ambroggi studied cinema in Pisa and works between Paris, Italy, and Albania.
